Presentation of Honors and Diplomas at Commencement Exercises

The Class of 1979 was graduated on June 8, 1979 at commencement exercises held at The Lexington School. Mr. Norton G. Pritchett, Jr., Headmaster, presided at the graduation ceremonies as diplomas and honors were presented.

Prior to the processional of graduates, members of the audience were entertained by harpist Lee Allen Marcum, an eighth grader, and an upper school flute trio with members Elizabeth Ruggles, Robin Wharton and Alida Griffith. After opening cermonies the ninth grade chorus sang "On a Clear Day" and "My Days With You".

Gerald Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ward, was selected as class valedictorian. Margaret Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Graves, was the salutatorian for the Class of 1979.

Dr. James S. Gay, member of the Board of Trustees, delivered the commencement address and presented the diplomas to The Lexington School graduates.

The ninth grade class presented a score board for the new gym as their class gift to The Lexington School. Following the graduation ceremonies graduates, parents and faculty attended a luncheon at Spindletop Hall.

Awards to Graduates

Mr. Pritchell presented awards and trophies to members of the Class of 1979 who had made significant contributions to The Lexington School.

The Faculty Award for Service and Leadership was presented to Margaret Graves. A Fine Arts Award was presented to Elizabeth Ruggles, daughter of Mrs. Karen Evans, for her contribution in music. Hale Pettit, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Foster Pettit, received the Fine Arts Drama Award. The John Anthony Krogdahl Memorial Trophy for outstanding contribution to sports was presented to Lisa Gormley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gormley, and Sheila and Stuart Owen, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Owen.

FROM THE HEAD MASTER'S DESK

The day of Final Exercises is always a day of mixed emotions for us. On the one hand we rejoice in the fact that another class of fine young people is ready to enter high school and on the other hand, we experience the sadness of saying goodbye to young men and women who have contributed significantly to the life of the entire school "family".

An analysis of the 29 students composing the Class of 1979 reveals that the average number of years in attendance at The Lexington School for this group was 7.52 years. Over half entered our program by the second grade, with Juliet Brewer, Margaret Graves and Stanley Petter being the "senior citizens", having entered at the age 3 Montessori level.

Having an opportunity to study the development of students over a prolonged period provides an interesting perspective, for the temporary up and down swings, which all can be expected to have, do not distort the true picture of a child's real educational growth.

One of our most valuable sources of feedback comes from alumni who give us the benefit of their suggestions based on their readiness to cope with the rigors of their secondary school years after their study at The Lexington School.

From this feedback we make such program changes as are deemed appropriate. Our Class of 1979 leaves with a much broader foundation than was the case ten years ago.

Were a member of the Class of 1969 to examine our current program in light of the one he experienced at The Lexington School, he would find that our present offerings in composition, science and physical education are noticably broader than he observed ten years ago. While we have been expanding these programs every effort has been made to maintain the high quality program for which the school has always been known.

Major emphasis is currently being placed in broadening our program in mathematics. The Board of Trustees has authorized the additional staff needed to enable us to group students by achievement in math. In grades 5 through 8 we plan to schedule all math instruction to the grade at one time. Two or three sections per grade will be established, based upon the student's achievement, and maximum flexibility will be maintained in these groupings.

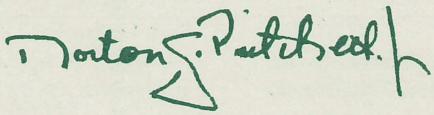

A program in proficiency testing is being instituted in both math and English skills. Students needing additional instruction will be scheduled to receive it. We are convinced that such an opportunity will assure that a student's basic skills will be mastered before proceeding to the next grade level.

A school is an ever changing institution as it alters its program to meet the needs of its families.

It is imperative that we continue to access our strength and weaknesses and make appropriate adjustments to promote maximum gains for all.

As the Class of 1979 moves toward broader horizons we look forward to having frequent contact with its members. We have confidence in the fact that these fine graduates will continue to make the strong contributions to their new schools as have their predecessors.

We wish the Class of 1979 continued success in all of its efforts.

Funds Allocated by Mothers Committee

The Mothers Committee has sponsored, and many parents have participated in several 1978-1979 fund raising projects. These include the plant and bake sale, the Green-Gray Soiree, and the sale of cookbooks. The money realized from these projects have been distributed to various departments and divisions of The Lexington School.

Money has been allocated for use of school needs which include additional cabinets for the art department, a quality record player for the music department, fans for rooms needing them and tapes and films that will be available for all teachers. In additions, the lower school received $1500 and the middle and upper schools were allocated $1000 each to be spent for the needs of these divisions.

Mothers Committee

Parents at The Lexington School take an active role in promoting existing school programs and furthering school goals. The Mothers Committee serves in this role as a self governing group and consists of mothers from the three preschool classes and two members representing each grade. It is headed by a Chairman and a Vice Chairman, with individual chairmen appointed for special events.

The functions of these members are to assist the teacher in co-ordinating parent help for school activities, represent the parents of the class by serving on the committee, assist in interpreting the school program to other parents and to assist the faculty and administration by pointing out matters of parental concern. The committee works closely with the Headmaster and the parent body in meeting the needs of the school and communicating mutual concerns.

Through the efforts of this committee many events have been sponsored such as a horse show, Christmas Corner Bazaar, Green-Gray Soiree, workshops, plant and bake sales and a Winter Evening Lecture series.

Volunteers have also been used for graduation staging and the graduates' luncheon, conference day and exam week teachers' luncheon, the Book Fair, Open House, fall coffees for the mothers of each class and picnics.

The Mothers Committee for the 1979-1980 school year includes the following representatives:

Language Students Receive Honors

Under the direction of Mrs. Betty Mills several students in the middle school participated in the Foreign Language Elementary School contest. Charlotte Gay, Jonathan Miller and Sajida Nasar were winners in this national contest. This means that they are among the top 7% of the elementary French students in the nation.

Students of Mrs. Nicole Charron participated in the Kentucky Foreign Language Festival. At the regional level Tim Edwards received first place in the Level I Written Proficiency; Karan Whitehead won first place in the Level I Poetry contest and Lynn Knox was first in the Level II Poetry competition. Lynn Knox and Paige Wilhite were recognized as third place winners in Level I Oral Proficiency.

Winners in the State of Kentucky Festival were Karan Whitehead, first place in Poetry I and Lynn Knox, second place in Poetry II.

Mr. John Fox directed the Spanish students at the regional level in Written Proficiency Level I and Mary Ann Patrick was the first place winner. Nancy Dorsey won first place at both the Regional and State Language Festival for her native doll costume.

French students also participated in a national French competition, le Grand Concours. Winners in Kentucky in French I B were Catherine Calvert, first; Chris Ward, second; Scott Plumlee and Sara Beth Young, third. Honorable mention in this category went to John Park and Paula Shoemaker. Dominic Eardley won first place in the French II B and Elizabeth Gay received an honorable mention in that competition.

Winners at the Kentucky level then participated in a regional contest which is composed of the following chapters: Detroit, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Northwestern Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Toronto. In the French I B competition winners were: Catherine Calvert, second place; Chris Ward, eighth place; Scott Plumlee and Sara Beth Young, ninth place. Dominic Eardley placed third in the French II B division.

Catherine Calvert received a fourth place victory in the national contest, which included students from all over the United States. Of all the students at any level who took part in the contest in Kentucky, Catherine Calvert was the student who made the highest score.

Students Receiving Honors at Awards Day

An Apple For The Teacher

Judy Apple is a busy person who will put her talents to work developing an art program at The Lexington School. Apple's Alley is the art studio and craft shop she has in Georgetown where she teaches 60 private students a week and sponsors a creative summer workshop for local children. Mrs. Apple has published three prints of historical Georgetown buildings and does paintings on commission.

The Apple family has lived in Georgetown for the past nine years. Mrs. Apple's husband, Lindsay, is Dean of Students at Georgetown College. They have two children, Paul a sixth grader and Lisa who will be entering fifth grade. Their family activities include tennis, swimming and crafts.

A graduate of Georgetown College, Mrs. Apple is originally from Tupelo, Mississippi. Her previous experience includes developing the eighth grade art program for the Scott County Schools. She believes that art enhances students' ability to challenge academic subjects and plans to coordinate the art program with academic subjects.

Presenting...Mrs. Jones

The Lexington School is proud to announce that Alice Jones will be teaching Third grade. Mrs. Jones has previously taught in Fayette County, Jessamine County and Norfolk, Virginia school. Originally from Hopkinsville, Mrs. Jones is a graduate of Murray and has done graduate work at the University of Kentucky and Eastern University.

Mrs. Jones keeps busy with her two children. Amy is 21 and a junior at the University of Kentucky majoring in music education and Tommy, 15, attends Tates Creek High School. Free time is spent sewing, gardening and doing needlework. She is thrilled about teaching third grade and looking forward to the opportunity of teaching at The Lexington School.

We are pleased to welcome Mrs. Jones to the TLS staff.

Introducing...Mrs. Walker

Pam Walker is originally from Atlanta, Georgia and is a graduate of Vanderbilt. She has done graduate work in math at the University of Tennessee. Her several years teaching experience includes schools in Nashville and Knoxville as well as Columbia Academy in Columbia, Tennessee and Lee Academy in Auburn, Alabama. Mrs. Walker will be teaching mathematics in the middle school.

Her family has recently moved to Lexington where her husband, Charles, is a veterinarian. They have two children and many animals at their home on Twin Eagles Farm. Their son, Chad, will be in second grade and their daughter, Kipp, will be in first grade. Among Mrs. Walker's many interests are fox hunting and herb gardening.

Ring In Mrs. Bell

Another new math teacher is Lanna Bell who comes to The Lexington School from Bryan Station Senior High School. Mrs. Bell is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and has lived in Lexington for 13 years. Raymond Bell, her husband, is a Certified Public Accountant. Joe, their son, will be in fourth grade and their daughter, Holly, starts first grade this year.

Many interesting hobbies keep Mrs. Bell busy. Her interests include bridge, tennis, reading and landscape architecture. She is also involved in many church activities at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Mrs. Bell is excited about teaching at The Lexington School and is anxious to meet the faculty, students and parents.

Trosper retires as head of the lower school and a second grade teacher. Mrs. Bailey served as head of the middle school and as a language and reading teacher. Mrs. Macfarlane has retired as the kindergarten teacher but still serves The Lexington School in her role as Alumni Director.

Mrs. Alberto Mazzoleni was also recognized as an honorary alumni for her contribution to The Lexington School where she has served the school in many capacities during the 14 years her two sons, Andre and Billy, have been students.

Presentation of Honors

Students in grades four through nine participate in Green-Gray competition in several events throughout the school year. Points are awarded in several contests and the team that accumulates the most points for the year is awarded the Green-Gray Trophy. The Green team was presented the Green-Gray Trophy for 1979.

Ten students were recognized for their outstanding science research projects. The top ten Science Research Awards went to Jennifer Brandenburgh, Juliet Brewer, Nancy Dorsey, Dominic Eardley, Margaret Graves, Sheila Owen, John Park, Scott Plumlee, Chris Ward and Gerald Ward. Chris Ward was awarded first place for his project, second place went to Dominic Eardley while Gerald Ward received third place honors.

Mr. Pritchett presented awards for honor grades to Beckwith Archer, Chip Bird, Jenny Brown, Jim Hacker, Danny Kielar, Lynn Knox, Sarah Kotchen, Jennifer Levy, Anne Lucas, Will Montague, Denise Nelligan, Greg Nicholason, Julie Pash, Donny Schaeffer and Karan Whitehead, grade seven; Jennifer Brandenburgh, Catherine Calvert, Burgess Carey, Mary Clay, Todd Collis, Michael Eastwood, Julie Geddes, Luke Hodges, Richard Johnson, Preston Madden, Kevan Morgan, Mary Ann Patrick, David Slovin and Sara Beth Young, grade eight; Dominic Eardley, Todd Geddes, Stuart Owen and Elizabeth Ruggles, grade nine.

Receiving awards for high honors were Sarah Ades, Kim Arnold, Eugene Cazden, Tim Edwards, Alida Griffith, Elizabeth Hughes, Renie Ingram, Jill Jamieson, Colin Luke, Charles Murphy, Chris Schindler, Jon Shepard, Kristan Wieland and Paige Whilhite, grade seven; Mark Cloys, Nancy Dorsey, Lee Ellen Marcum, Whitney Page, John Park, Scott Plumlee, Stuart Plumlee, Chris Ward, Matthew Wellens, Robin Wharton, grade eight; Kinney Bigelow, Elizabeth Gay, Margaret Graves, Gerald Ward, grade nine.

Students recognized for perfect attendance were Amanda Freeman, prekindergarten; Kristen Raney, Lisa Scully, kindergarten; Janet Jones, Wally Letson, Mickey Todd, first grade; Andrea Boldt, Ethan Diamond, Alexandra Kinkead, Sean Nighbert, second grade; Gatewood Arnold, Thomas Buckley, Kimberly Daugherty, Andrew Diamond, Walter Eng, Ward Headley, Julian Gabbard, Clint Kinkead, Drew Ludlow, Jeffrey Truitt, Emilie Wilson, third grade; J. ALUMNI NEWS NOTES
by CLAIRE MACFARLANE
ALUMNI DIRECTOR

Some interesting adventures have kept the Class of '77 busy this summer. Attending Girl's State at Morehead were Kristin Wilhite '77 and Ester Fallon '77. Representatives to Boy's State held at Eastern were Robert DeAngelis '77, Phil Scott '77 and Jonathan Edwards '77. Jonathan later participated in a Creative Writing Workshop at Berea College.

A wilderness camping and canoeing trip to Canada was also on the schedule for Phil who was joined by brother David Scott '78, Ronnie Simon '77, James Park '78 and Shelia Plumlee '78.

Recently returned from soccer camp at Bloomington, Indiana are Chris Nieto '77, who also attended an earlier camp in North Carolina and Robert DeAngelis '77. Robert was home only a day from his month long stay with a French family in the Deauville area. Other T.L.S. students who have enjoyed the Twin Cities Exchange program this year and Mary Gillis '77 and Sandy Pastrick '78.

The Class of '77 may also be very proud of their year book editor duo. Scott Hisle '77 will be in charge at Tates Creek while Matt Malek '77 is responsible for the Lafayette effort.

Travelers in the class of '75 include Andre Mazzoleni '75 who returned from his freshman year at Duke just in time to fill the oboe chair in the Lexington Youth Orchestra for their European tour. Tina Stambaugh '75 has had a glorious summer as a counselor at a Primitive Girl Scout camp in Alaska with a tour of the countryside as she returned to the U.S. and the Sewanee campus. George Freeman x'75 has joined brother Reid Freeman '74 in Europe for some extensive travel. Si Campbell '70 was in Lexington briefly following his overseas adventures and a job experience in Alaska. He is attending seminars at St. John's College in Santa Fe, New Mexico this summer.

Seeing the Pacific area with the U.S. Navy is Gary McInturf x'73 who is on permanent assignment aboard the fast frigate U.S.S. Brewton at Pearl Harbor. He sailed in March to the Far East (Guam, Phillipines, Hong Kong, Thailand, etc.) and will return in October to Pearl Harbor.

Matt Hisle '74 returned as advisor to ten Presidential Scholars in the Washington program to which he was invited last year. They represented five very diverse states and provided a stimulating challenge.

Hal Irvin '74 and Gregory Pettit '74 learned more of our exciting new Kentucky Horse Park in their summer jobs at the park. George Preston '76 enjoyed a musical experience with the Oberlin Chorale . Brother, Paul Preston '73 was graduated at Transy in May and will enter medical school at Johns Hopkins in September. A job offer at Williamstown, Kentucky High to teach science followed Marshall Hehl's '71 degree at Transy in education. Still on campus and President of the Senior Class is Ben Nelson '72.

Newly employed following graduation at Duke are Sally Wiley '72 who began her nursing career in July in the cardiac intensive care unit at John Hopkins in Baltimore. In Anniston, Alabama and a staff writer with The Anniston Star is Laura Ann Freeman '72, also a Duke alumni.

Living in Mobile, Alabama and working as a chemist for Ciba-Geigy Drug Company is Jim Malek '72 who graduated from Georgia Tech. Sister, Nancy Malek '71 is doing graduate work in Hospital and Health Planning at Iowa University.

Henry West '66 began a family practice residency in Lynchburg, Virginia and is enjoying his close association with an established physician. Kathy Thompson '69 is choosing a residency location as she finishes her last year at Duke Medical School.

Locally, working as a Echo-cardiologist at U.K. while awaiting her "first born" is Caroline Thompson Mayburns '66. A new home on Holiday Road is also keeping life busy. Reid Thompson x'64 heads a thriving electrical contracting business. Mary Ellery Ezzell Calloway '70 now is co-owner of The Hollow Stump in Landsdowne Shopping Center. Bob West '68 is involved with the thoroughbred industry at Waterford Farm. John Irvin '67 is using his U.K. law degree to further the goals of the university as Director of Deferred Giving.
